

home / subscribe / about us / books / archives / search / links / feedback

"America's Best Political Newsletter" Out of Bounds Magazine

counterpunch

edited by alexander cockburn and jeffrey st.clair

New Print Edition of CounterPunch Available Exclusively to Subscribers: Patrick Cockburn's Iraq Diary: The Bush Mosaic; Inside the Looting of the Iraq National History Museum; the Rise of the Guerrilla War; Jeffrey St. Clair on The Anatomy of a Swindle: How the Bush Administration is Giving Away Public Lands to Its Political Cronies; Scott Handleman on the Return of the Aliens: Why the CIA Was Paranoid About UFOs. Remember, the CounterPunch website is supported exclusively by subscribers to our newsletter. Our worldwide web audience is soaring, with more than 60,000 visitors a day. This is inspiring news, but the work involved also compels us to remind you more urgently than ever to subscribe and/or make a \(tax deductible\) donation if you can afford it. If you find our site useful please: **Subscribe Now!**

Or Call Toll Free 1-800-840 3683 or write CounterPunch, PO BOX 228, Petrolia, CA 95558

Coming Soon!

From Common Courage
Press

Stop Prison Rape Edition

August 1, 2003

Been Brown So Long,
It Looked Like Green to Me:
The Politics of Nature
by Jeffrey St. Clair

Trivializing Prison Rape

Who Moved My Soap?

By ALEX COOLMAN

Now that Martha Stewart has been criminally indicted, we're curious to know when the jokes are going to start about the possibility that she'll be raped in prison.

Maybe Jay Leno can do a monologue on the subject, suggesting a few wacky tips to help Stewart avoid sexual assault behind bars. Maybe the idea of rape in prison can even be used as a gag in commercials and turned into some kind of hilarious parody of a business advice book.

Recent Stories

August 1, 2003

Steve J.B.
Prison Bitch

Sound implausible?

Sound like something so crude and insensitive that it could never happen?

July 31, 2003

Ray McGovern
The Prostitution of Intelligence

Brian Cloughley
Wolfowitz's Operative Statement

Sheldon Hull
The RIAA's Jihad: The Devil's Music \(Industry\)

Elaine Cassel
The Next Time You Crack a Lawyer Joke, Think of These Attorneys

Sheldon Rampton and John Stauber
True Lies: Propaganda and Bush's Wars

Hammond Guthrie
Speculation Blues

Website of the Day
Army of One?

July 30, 2003

David Lindorff
Poindexter the Terror Bookie

Marjorie Cohn
Why Iraq and Afghanistan? It's About the Oil

Unfortunately rape in prison is routinely exploited in exactly these ways. The latest entry in the prison rape joke genre is Andy Borowitz' new book Who Moved My Soap? The CEO's Guide to Surviving in Prison, which is a tongue-in-cheek primer for business executives facing the possibility of spending time in prison, and includes the predictable discussion of life as a "prison bitch" and the hazards of "peter-gazing."

Martha Stewart's name hasn't been dragged into this newest rape "joke" because she's a woman and our society now understands that the rape of women isn't funny.

But in Borowitz' hands, the rape of men in prison is once again being treated as fodder for cruel, inane humor instead of what it really is: one of the most appalling, institutionally ignored abuses of human rights in this nation.

Borowitz' book has met with lavish praise from business magazines, which treat his unapologetic use of prison stereotypes and recycled riffs on rape as if they were about the most original thing ever set down on the printed page. Fortune called it a "must-read," while Lou Dobbs told his CNN audience that Borowitz' material was really "fresh and funny."

The only problem with all this business media chuckling is that, for the more than 2 million American men and women who are actually behind bars, rape isn't a punchline. It's a reality. And it isn't any funnier when it happens to thousands of anonymous victims than it would be if it happened to Martha Stewart.

Among the gags found in Who Moved My Soap? is the suggestion that a CEO can avoid being attacked by turning into a "'psycho' inmate who might 'nut out' without warning" thereby causing other inmates "to stay far out of his way and look upon him fearfully - beginning their gradual

Elaine Cassel

How Ashcroft Coerces Guilty Pleas in Terror Cases

Zvi Bar'el

The Hidden Costs of the Iraq War

Lisa Walsh Thomas

Killing Mustafa Hussein: Death of a Child, Birth of a Legend?

Sean Carter

Pat Robertson's Prayer Jihad: God, Sodomy and the Supremes

ND Jayaprakash

India and Ariel Sharon

Steve Perry

Bush's Top 40 Lies

Standard Schaefer

Correction about Bloomberg and Outsourcing

Website of the Day

Bring Them Home Now!

Congratulations to CounterPuncher Gilad Atzmon! BBC Names EXILE Top Jazz CD

transformation into punk-ass bitches."

The frightening reality behind the "humor" here is that the transformation Borowitz is describing is an actual phenomenon. Non-violent inmates, who are the most common targets for sexual assault behind bars, are routinely forced to resort to extreme violence as the only way to fend off rape. And they're in danger of bringing this learned violence into society when they are released from custody. Sexual abuse in prison, a problem that affects as many as one in five male inmates, according to the best studies on the subject, has been deemed a form of torture by international legal bodies. Rape behind bars has a host of damaging effects on individuals and society. It spreads diseases including HIV, it undermines the legitimacy of the justice system, and it leaves victims susceptible to post-traumatic stress disorder, substance abuse, and suicide.

In a publicity interview for his book on MSNBC, Borowitz said: "I try to write about things that people care about. Laughing about these subjects is often the best way for all of us to deal with them."

There are a lot of subjects for which this is true. Laughter is a great healer. But laughter can also be a way to trivialize real harm. That's why racist jokes won't make it into Jay Leno's monologue, why quips about the Holocaust aren't used for commercials, and why sexual brutality shouldn't be exploited in a book of business comedy. Laughing about rape dehumanizes the victims, and in the public discussion of rape behind bars, this has happened for far too long.

Stop Prisoner Rape is a national human rights group that works to end sexual violence against men, women, and youth in all forms of custody. We have no desire to censor anyone's right to free expression. The one thing we recommend, however - not only for Borowitz, but also for many others who routinely make jokes about rape behind bars - is that it might be worth speaking to an actual survivor of prisoner rape before writing the next wisecrack about this subject.

EXILE
Gilad Atzmon
& Orient House Ensemble

July 29, 2003

Jeffrey St. Clair
["Journalist Spotted!
 Journalist Dead!"](#)
[Guatemala Bleeds; US
 Press Yawns](#)

Thomas J. Nagy
The Belligerent Dr. Pipes

Kurt Nimmo
Tom Delay Goes to Jerusalem

Chris Floyd
[Dead Reckoning: Bush
 Warriors Sign Off on War
 Crimes](#)

Robert Fisk
[Another Botched Raid;
 Another Massacre](#)

Jason Leopold
[Did Chalabi Help Write
 Bush's State of the Union
 Address?](#)

Conn Hallinan
[Food Bully: Bush's
 Biotech Shock and Awe Campaign](#)

Dan Bacher
Sacramento's War on

Try contacting us first. We can connect you with men and women throughout the country who have been raped and sexually brutalized while in custody. Not one of them found the experience funny.

Alex Coolman is Communications Coordinator of Stop Prisoner Rape. He can be reached at: acoolman@spr.org

See Also:

Prison Bitch
 by Steve J.B.

Stopping Prison Rape
 by Joanne Mariner

Weekend Edition Features for July 26 / 28, 2003

Alexander Cockburn
[NYT's Screws Up Again; Uday and Qusay Deaths
 Bad for Bush; Gen. Hitchens at the Front](#)

Gary Leupp
Faith-Based Intelligence

Saul Landau
A Report from Syria

Stan Goff
Bring 'Em On Home, Now!

Jeffrey St. Clair
Book Cooking at Boeing

Andrew Cockburn
The Sons Are Dead; Now the Blood Feud Begins

Jason Leopold
CIA Points the Finger at the Pentagon's Office of Special Plans

Robert Fisk
The Power of Death

Joanne Mariner